GRAPE VARIETY AND VINEYARDS

From the Syrah vineyards that have long produced our Tellus red wine, we select grapes that offer exceptional freshness and are particularly well-suited for rosé winemaking. Complementing the Syrah is Aleatico, a distinctively aromatic grape traditional to our area.

VINIFICATION

The grapes, harvested separately and at different times, arrive at the winery in the early morning. They are cooled at 10°C and undergo a brief cold maceration lasting about an hour. The resulting must is then fermented in stainless steel at a temperature of 14-15°C. The wine remains on the lees for about three months.

THE WINE

Brilliant, pale pink with luminous reflections. Intense and clean on the nose, featuring floral notes of wisteria alongside citrus nuances of grapefruit and delicate hints of wild rose. Fresh and vibrant, with a clear citrus character. The finish is marked by pronounced salinity and a subtle mineral note.
